

I've been subscriber to XM Satellite Radio for the approx. two months and it has been a great investment. I was going to get it over a year ago and kept putting it off. I kicked myself for waiting for so long after finally getting it. I love the variety of the music programming that doesn't come with regular radio, which plays the same songs over and over. I don't listen to regular radio anymore unless my satellite radio is not available. A great benifit is the availability of traffic and weather reports for different cities that go right to the point without useless interuptions. Being that there is a monthly fee for all of this service and I choose to pay for it, the NAB should not dictate how the service should be. I asking the FCC to please reject NAB's 04-160 petition.
